

15. Hindon Newsletter

I only have two issues of The Hindon Post to report on by the time of this meeting, so observations and insights are therefore fairly limited. Feedback on the revised design and new features has been positive, and Hindon's lovely residents have remained forthcoming with contributions. The ambition, editorially, is to blend relevant local information with enjoyable content to make people feel as connected to the village and its surrounding areas as possible. A request I have received on more than one occasion has been for additional information regarding the proposed residential / GP surgery development. I wonder if there is scope for a fuller update / article on this from the Parish Council in due course.
